

Discussion regarding,
Laparoscopic multi-visceral debulking in patients with OC: ULTRA-LAP trial
by Roberto Tozzi

Eun-Ju Lee, M.D., Ph.D.

Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology, Chung-Ang University, Seoul, Korea

Question 1

- Surgeons skilled in laparoscopic debulking surgery are necessary for a clinical trial to be conducted. Do you think the gynecologic oncologists who have 10-years of experience in debulking surgery and laparoscopic surgery can do this?
- Would you please clarify which conditions are Suitable / unsuitable for LPS surgery at EXL?

Question 2

- Considering BRCA/HRD status and PARPi
 - Will you stratify results based on BRCA/HRD status/ PARPi?

Question 3

- Is HIPEC allowed?

Question 4

- The total parietal peritonectomy is another issue in NAC-IDS.
 - In your study, does peritonectomy mean the selective parietal peritonectomy in which the peritoneum involved by tumor is selectively removed?

Thanks a lot.